

Come and join the festivities as Kennett Square, PA, "The Mushroom Capital of the World," hosts one of the largest festivals nationwide devoted to the celebration of the Mushroom.

- Street Festival
- Remote Control Air Show
- Soup and Wine Fest
- Cooking Demonstrations
- Growing Demonstrations
- Parade and Antique Car Show
- Art Show
- Continuous Music
- Children's Entertainment
- Mushroom Farm Tours
- Saturday Night Dance Party featuring "The Fabulous Greaseband"

There's something for the entire family!

Parking $5.00 - Admission $2.00

Hours

Saturday: 11 am - 7 pm
Parade - Saturday 10 am
Sunday: 10 am - 5 pm

for information:
888-440-9920

www.mushroomfestival.org

BBQ AND BLUES ON THE JERSEY SHORE

NEW JERSEY The Garden State? For real down-home barbecue? It's true—and we wouldn't joke about a serious subject like pulled pork. For one delicious weekend (July 13-15), carnivores can find nirvana in North Wildwood, a funky beach resort that hosts the New Jersey State Barbecue Championship (njbbq.com).

Teams from around the nation gather each year for a fierce competition, waged with secret recipes, tangy sauces and cutting-edge grilling techniques. You can argue all day about whose barbecue is best while you check out the cooking demonstrations, antique cars and craft show.

Smoky, succulent ribs always taste better with a soundtrack of sizzling hot blues, so the organizers of this annual barbecue throw-down have combined their event with the Anglesea Blues Festival. The outdoor stage rocks all day, while blues acts perform in neighboring bars and clubs. With beer, barbecue and great music, it's hog heaven.

